

Dear FCC,

I disagree with petition RM-10810. Reason:

In order to maintain proficiency in radio electronics, all written elements should remain (Technician, General, Extra) but increased in rigor from what they are today, with the Extra class being on par with an electronics associate degree.

To maintain a CW element (as RM-10810 suggests) for the Extra class is something I do reject.

Reason: maintaining a CW requirement does not serve radio ham, on the contrary. It prevents talented radio individuals from becoming a radio amateur.